

IN THE SPECIFICATION

Please, amend the specification by substituting the existing specification with the substitute specification enclosed herein. The changes made are not adding any new matter but are made only for the purpose of making the specification more easily readable. Enclosed is a marked up version of the substitute specification as well as a clean version.

Please, amend the specification also with the sequence listing enclosed herein as a paper copy as well as a computer readable diskette. The information on the diskette is exactly the same as is provided on paper. The sequence listing does not add any new matter to the application; it simply lists the amino acid sequences disclosed in the original application.